

Improving connections

Improving connections is at the heart of what we do – whether that's connecting you to access your community through transport, or increasing social connections through our one-on-one accompanied activities, group social trips, telephone calls or home visiting services, we're here to help.

Community Care & Support Services

Support and services designed to keep you active and connected to your community.

Nothing beats hearing the change in their voice when they know someone is calling just to check in and have a chat.

Here for you

St John Queensland has a proud history of providing community support services since 1997. Today, our community services operate Queensland-wide. We pride ourselves on our person-centred approach, and it's our goal to empower all of our clients to be independent and socially connected.

We envision a diverse and inclusive community, where people are respected and enabled to make informed choices about the types of care they receive in order to live their lives as they choose – regardless of age or disability.

Our staff and volunteers are passionate about the community and helping people. At the core of our values is humanity. We treat everyone who uses our services with integrity, respect, care, dedication and compassion.
